Become a Human Performance Champion and Receive FREE Training!

Most people reading this information sheet will probably have already experienced just how beneficial and worthwhile a Human Performance workshop is. Everything that we deliver is mapped to National Occupational Standards to ensure its relevance to the sector you work within, your job role and your responsibilities. Most importantly, all workshops are delivered by Jim Turner who engages all delegates with his enthusiastic delivery style and his "hands on practical approach" to utilising the workshop content when you're back in the workplace.

All delegates receive high quality workshop manuals as a reference tool when back at work as well as unlimited FREE support to assist you as you put the knowledge and understanding into practice to develop your competence. Since September 2007, when we became an ASET Nationally Licensed Training Centre, we have been offering accredited level 3 programmes alongside our own practical skills workshops. Currently there are 24 "developing skills" programmes to choose from.

Human Performance Champions

For over five years now the company has continued to grow purely through recommendation of people like you who have generously recommended our workshops to colleagues, partners, stakeholders and other people in your network following your own positive experience on a Human Performance workshop. To recognise your contribution we have developed our Human Performance Champions scheme to offer your FREE training places on our "open courses" in return for your recommendation and support.

How Does It Work

Visit our website <http://www.humanperformance.co.uk> and look at the range of ASET Awards and Human Performance Workshops available and choose something you would like to attend. Contact Jim on 0845 880 2255 and register your interest. We will then agree a provisional date to run this workshop and prepare advertising material for you to send out to your partners, other projects, other stakeholders and everyone within your network circle making them aware of the workshop.

Interested candidates will contact Human Performance directly who will book them on the workshop and invoice them for their place/s. Once 8 candidates book on the workshop you get one free fully funded place on the workshop. If 10 candidates book you get offered two free fully funded places on the workshop.

No Cost; No Risk and No Worries

You pay absolutely nothing to register your interest. You assume none of the risk even if the workshop fails to generate sufficient candidates. If the workshop fails to achieve a minimum number of candidates by an agreed date the workshop is cancelled without cost or re-scheduled to a mutually agreeable alternative date. And you don't have to concern yourself with any of the administration because Human Performance handles everything from venue booking, catering, invoicing and joining instructions.

So What Do I Have To Do To Get Free Training Places?

Register your interest for a particular ASET Award or Human Performance Workshop and then email information about the workshop (which we provide for you) to everyone you know who you think will be interested in and benefit from attending a Human Performance Developing Skills opportunity. That's it!
